2.2 - Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 - The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organizes special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

Ours is a rural institute. The students enroll are majority from the rural areas. Once they get enrolled in this institute, the subject teacher identifies the slow learners and advanced learners. On the basis of different level, they are divided mainly into two groups. The advanced learners are motivated to teach the slow learners. The teacher plays a role of a supervisor. Whenever, s/he finds a need, s/he intervenes. As the majority students are from the rural background, their acquaintance with the English languages is limited. To bridge this gap, the English language department arranges enrichment classes. The advanced learners engage these classes. This is a win-win situation for both the advanced learners and the slow learners. The social sciences departments arrange orientation program to deepen and clarify the subjects and their relevance in the present scenario. The institute is having some blind students as well. For them, recorded answers are prepared by the advanced learners. In many cases, the advanced learners help them understand the topics from the syllabi.

5.3.2 - Institution facilitates students' representation and engagement in various administrative, co-curricular and extracurricular activities (student council/ students representation on various bodies as per established processes and norms)

In the beginning of academic year, students' central council is formed. The principal is the president and one faculty member is the vice-president. Meritorious students are selected as the General Secretary and Ladies Representative. Every class has a class representative. They are also part of IQAC Team. There are 18 committees. Each committee has student representation. In majority programs, students are in the leading roles. They prepare, plan and execute the assigned activity. It is also observed that if students are given free hand, they can shoulder that responsibility more effectively and efficiently. As the majority students are from the rural background, their acquaintance with the English language is limited. To bridge this gap, the department of English arranges enrichment classes. The advanced learners engage these classes. The institute is having some blind students as well. For them, recorded answers are prepared by the advanced learners.

NCC, NSS and Nature Club: Students' representation in these activities is the highest. The coordinators of such programs are merely facilitators. Basically, the mottoes of these activities are to make the students independent and responsible towards the society and the nation.

Sports and Cultural Programs: These activities are mainly by, for and of the students. They participate in annual sports day and annual cultural program at college level. From these events, some well-performed students are selected for the university sports events and youth festival. If they perform better, they get an opportunity to represent the university at the west zone and then national level.

This is the best contribution an alumni can offer to any institute ie their trust and faith in this institute. Moreover, they also motivate other students of their surrounding areas to get admission in this institute. Though, the financial support is less, but In many cases, they offer their intellectual support to the institute.

GOVERNANCE, LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT

6.1 - Institutional Vision and Leadership

6.1.1 - The governance of the institution is reflective of and in tune with the vision and mission of the institution

Vision: The Vision of the institution is based on Nalanda and Takshashila. Nalanada= Na + Alam + Da which means knowledge cannot be completely imparted; where generation and acquisition of knowledge goes on unabated. Takshashila literally means shaping stone into an idol. It stands for continuous development of the students. Some stones are porous and soft, some are spotted and some are hard. We aimed at shaping our students and developing them into the ideal human beings.

Mission:

- To preserve and enhance the legacy of the knowledge of humanities
- To develop globally relevant knowledge potential
- To organize activities to help the students' creativity
- To inculcate in students good values and to build good character which are beneficial to life
- To nurture the qualities of students which are helpful in social life i. e. Equality, Fraternity and Social Justice
- To shape enlightened citizens who can guide society, nation and world to construct the noble, global society
- To educate youth to gain and use self-knowledge for self-development

The vision and mission of the institute are self-explanatory.

6.1.2 - The effective leadership is visible in various institutional practices such as decentralization and participative management.

In the beginning of each academic year, students' central council is formed. The principal is the president and one of the faculty members is the vice-president of it. Meritorious students are selected as the General Secretary (GS) and Ladies Representative (LR). Every class has a class representative. There are around 18 different committees in that council. Each committee has a faculty member as a coordinator, a member from administrative staff and a team of student representation. In majority programs, students are in the leading roles. They prepare, plan and execute the assigned activity. All the responsibilities are decentralized for effective management. It is also observed that if the responsibility is shared according to the ability, the end result would definitely be colourful. It is also observed that if students are given free hand, they can shoulder the responsibility more effectively and efficiently.
